Speech of Hon, P. S. Brooks,

OF SOUTH CAROLINA, On resigning his seat in Congress; delivered in the House of Representatives, July 14, 1856.

that these was a propriety in my remaining silent, and in trusting my defence to friends who are abler and more learned than myself. I have heretofore felt that other and higher interests than any which affect me personally were involved in the proceedings of this case. The interests of my constituents, of this House, and of all, indeed, who are concerned in the constitution itself, in my view, have been intimately and inseparably complicated.

The interests of my constituents, of this House, and of all, indeed, who are concerned in the constitution itself, in my view, have been intimately and inseparably complicated.

The interests of my constituents of this House, it am unconscious of it, and I challenge every member to specify a single disorderly or improper act.—

The interests of my constituents of the theory of our government in the Capitol or on the plains of Kansas. "If there is not spirit or maniliness erough here to promptly purge this body by proper and constitutional means, at all events let atrial be made; better the vote come. This House, however, it would seem, from the annistakable tendency of its proceedings, takes a different view from that which I deliberately entertain in common with many others.

That is my answer.

For this act, which the Senate, with the solitary exception of a distinguished gentleman for a subject of the solitary exception of a distinguished gentleman for the law and under the influence of party dictation, it may and will become a terrible and insufferable deepotism.

This House, however, it would seem, from the unalterable determination to punish him, I believed t at the offence of "sending a hostile message," superadded to the indictment for assault and battery, would subject me to legal penalties more severe than would be imposed for a simple assault and battery.

So far as public interests or constitutional rights are involved, I have now exhausted my means of defence. I may, then, be allowed to take a more personal view of the question at issue. If an expression of public opinion is to be invoked in my case, let my constituents and my fellow-citizens pronounce upon it. From that verdict I will not appeal. The temper of the times is not favorable for a calm and dispassionate judgment of the case; and if, by any act of mine, I can save the majority of this House from the consequences of a rash decision, the time may come when the good men who are pursuing me—and I believe House has over its members. The axe that is uplifted to strike me may fall upon others, and fall upon them after they have parted with the shield of the constitution to protect them. For myself, I have only to say, that if I cannot preserve my self-respect and constitutional rights,

As was appropriately remarked by my friend from North Carolina [Mr. Clingman], the assaulting member—and it is not for me to say a word against him, for personally I like him—has now the most lucrative office in the gift of this House, and was elected by the unanimous vote of the very men the control of the co who are now conspiring to inflict punishment on

And in whose behalf is this extraordinary kind, or even a rough word to that gentleman—stretch of constitutional power invoked? Sir, I do not intend to violate any rule of this House, or of parliamentary courtesy, but it cannot be denied that he is, par excellence, the representations of the wrath of Massachusetts. or of parliamentary of the constitution and laws of the United States of America. Massachusetts sits in judgement upon me without a hearing, sits in judgement upon me without a hearing, that the bones of Connecticut revolutionary soldiers now lie in the valleys of the Sunny South. That member with a show of manhood which sits in judgement upon me without a hearing, and presents me for a breach of privilege! [Applause and hisses in the gallery.]

The SPEAKER announced that if any such demonstrations were repeated, the galleries should be cleared.

Mr. BROOKS, (turning to the gentlemen's gallery,) if I have any friends in the gallery, I appeal to them to be quiet.

"I say again, let the vote come; and if honorable gentlemen cannot wholly rid themselves of an unwelcome presence, they can at least show their appreciation of an action wanting few of the elements of the most audacious crime, and of a spirit equal to deeds that I will not name." His conclusion is grandiloquent. It is as fol

"And let me tell you, Mr. Speaker, that the spirit of true courage in Connecticut STILL LIVES." Well, sir, I confess to you that all other considerations escaped me when I heard the expression of so much manhood. He went through the motions well, and when he had finished, I could not resist an expression of admiration of a spirit with which we have not recently been familiar, and I involuntarily arose from my seat and made him a profound bow.

I thought, sir, that a gentleman who could had concluded was my friend from Tennessee, [Mr Savage, ] about whom I happened to know something in Mexico. He was the very man I wanted; and I asked him to present my compliments to the gentleman from Connecticut, and say a word quietly in his ear in my behalf. My friend did so, and here is a letter giving a report of the interview:

WASHINGTON CITY, July 11, 1856. DEAR SIR: I make a brief statement of the main facts connected with my call on the Hon. Mr. woodruff, of Connecticut, who spoke to-day in the House of Representatives.

Colonel Brooks and I then said in substance. if there was anything in his speech that would bear that construction, he, like Col. Bingham, would be ready to explain. I then told him that I considered that this declaration on his part ended my mission on the part of Col. Brooks; but I would advise him to look over his speech before publication; that I thought if he would examine it carefully he would find points and sentences

Your pen is just as harmless as your sword."

I now desire the attention of my quondam friend from Massachusetts, [Mr. Comins.] He alluded in the opening of his speech to our past personal and family relations. I have to say to him that my attachments do not set loosely upon me as to be cast off unnecessarily, and that I yet take deep interest in the welfare of his excellent family. Had our relative positions been reversed, I should have said nothing, or I should have done more than he has done. From his place in this House-in his represent

Virginia and Henry A. Wisc. Henry A. Wise was the first man to raise his powerful and eloquent voice against the oath-State to plant herself in its pathway and saycision of Virginia. The Democracy, who had portion of the Union to use it as an instrume been routed and defeated in nearly every State in the Union, looked with hope and confidence to the fate of Henry A. Wise. When the day of the Southern and Western States of this Union, election arrived the great Democratic heart beat quick and fast. We knew that Virginia, in all the political convulsions and revolutions, had never forsaken the proud banner which had been so triumphantly borne by Jefferson and Jackson. Every line of intelligence from the faithful old State was read with greedy impatience.— citizens in open and systematic attacks thereon pride the soul-stiring letter of Henry A. The Richmond Enquirer closes an able and in eresting review of Mr. Buchanan's record on the slavery question with the following recapitula-

1. In 1836, Mr. Buchanan supported a bill to prohibit the circulation of abolition papers through the mails.

4. In 1837 he voted for Mr. Calhoun's famous olutions defining the rights of the States and the limits of federal anthority, and affirming it to be the duty of the government to protect and uphold the institutions of the South.

5. In 1838-'9 and '40 he invariably voted with Southern senators against the consideration of anti-slavery petitions 6. In 1844-'5 he advocated and voted for the

7. In 1847 he sustained the Clayton Compro-8. In 1850 he proposed and urged the extension of the Missouri Compromise to the Pacific

9. But he promptly acquiesced in the Compromise of 1850, and employed all his influence in favor of the faithful execution of the fugitive slave law.

11. In 1854 he negotiated for the acquisition of 12. In 1856 he approves the repeal of the Missouri restriction, and supports the principles of the Kansas-Nebraska act. 13. He never gave a vote against the interests of slavery, and never uttered a word which could pain the most sensitive Southern heart.

The prominent facts of Mr. Buchanan's record touching slavery are thus grouped into a single view; so that the person of the least patience in research may ascertain at a glance how the democratic candidate stands in respect to the great issue of the canvass. In this succinct statement we give not detached passages and isolated acts; but we bring the whole history of a long life to bear upon the popular mind with the irresistible force of trnth. This rapid retrospect discloses a consistency and an efficiency of service to the South, which flattery can claim for no other living man. Mr. Buchanan is not only vindicated from calumny; he is not simply shown to be exempt from just reproach and worthy of confidence; he is promoted to his proper position, in advance of any and every statesman of the North in the confidence and affection of the people of the South. He demands not a mere recognition of the people of the state of the stat his attachment to the constitution, but unbound-ed applause for such service in the interest of the South as no other man can boast. Against the captious criticism of a desperate adversary, fining upon technical distinctions and skulking among quibbles, the democracy oppose this in-contestable attestation of their candidate's fidel-

An Editorial Fracas. Some time ago a difficulty occurred in Vicksburg between Giles M. Hillyer, of the Natchez Courier, and James W. Mr. McDonald, on the 14th inst., comes out in a two-column article in the Free Trader. in which he gives his version of the recounter such as it occurred. He concludes as follows: And now, that there may be no further misunderstanding about this affair, that there may be no more underground talk by irresponsible persons, and that there may be no further controversy on this subject, I publicly and deliberately pronounce Giles M. FROM CORYDON, INDIANA.

MESSES. EDITORS:-For the last two days I have been rusticating in this pleasant and ancient village. This is indeed a pleasant place, surround. ed by some romantic scenery and inhabited by some extremely romantic people; and more especially so, if we take into consideration some of their political views. Politics is the leading topic here. Everybody seems to be up and doing .-The negro worshippers are after the woolly horse as strong as the woolly heads.

The Fillmore men are mostly firm, yet have no hopes of his success. Some of the "big ones" here, think that he will not get more than fifteen or twenty thousand votes in the State. The Democrats are united and sanguine of success. I wish it were so that I could have the Times regularly in my travels as I am lost for want of news.

I observe that the great Mogul of humbuggery and falsehood has some worshippers here, and I heard one man presume to quote the "Louisville heard one man presume to quote the Journal" as good authority; but when called on to back up the assertions of his pet with the dimes, he politely declined, saying that he was not a sporting man. A wise and judicious excuse. I think from what I can hear, you may put Indiana down as certain for the Democracy by a large ERASTUS. DENTISTRY. THOS. G. LOCKERMAN, D. D. Letter from Mr. Douglas-A Black Republican

We invite attention to the following excellent letter from Senator Douglas to a political slangwhanger who is allowed to desecrate a pulpit in Chicago. It ought to make him and many others of his cloth hide their heads in shame. The Gazette and Commercial have repeatedly published the same villainous libels, and if they have any manhood will now retract them. Here is the letter to which we allude:

WASHINGTON, July 4, 1856. "SIR: I learn from the newspapers that on Sunday, the 1st day of June, in a sermon preached by you in the Plymouth Congregational Church of Chicago you deemed it your duty to assail me personally and by name.
"Referring to the affray between Mr. Sumner and Mr. Brooks you say: 'Douglas, of giant in famy, stood by with his hands in his pocket.'

"Although I have no personal acquaintance with you, or knowledge of your character as a citizen or a minister of the Gospel, my respect for your profession and for those Christian prin ciples which it is your duty to proclaim and observe, induce me to take it for granted that you would not knowingly utter an unmitigated falsehood in the pulpit on the Sabbath day, with the intent to injure the character of a drawn from it. The Commonwealth will here-fellow-citizen, and that, having committed after be under the sole control of Col. Hodges. such an act of injustice, you will feel it both a duty and a pleasure to repair the injury in the same place, and before the same audience where the injury was done. With the view ed with dyspepsia, or anything of that nature, to give Stewart's celebrated Stomachic Bitters a cause of truth the act of justice indicated, I now my nands in my pockets at the time; that I was place, that I was engaged in consultation on public affairs, with several Senators and Representatives, in another part of the Capitol at the time, and had been so engaged for more than an hour previous; that I had no knowledge, intimation, or belief that any such transaction was to take place at that or any other time; nor had Lany knowledge or reason to believe that either. I any knowledge or reason to believe that either Mr. Summer or Mr. Brooks was in or near the Capitol at the time, and when I returned to the nate chamber the affray had been over and quiet had been restored for some time.

"These facts are not only susceptible of proof y the Senators and Representatives referred to, out are so well known to the Senate and to the whole community here, that no gentleman would hazard his character for truth and veracity by intimating his belief in the truth of the charge which you, under some strange misapprehens have made against me in the pulpit of a Christian Church, on the Sabbath day.

"You are also represented as having made another change against me, equally unfounded and untre, which I quote from the newspapers, not having seen a copy of the printed sermon: and the Kansas crime reveal a new step in the policy of slavery: that physical force must and shall be used to carry out its measures. The instigator of all this crime (Douglas) a short time since ventured to divulge the secret policy, when he deciared to its first victim, 'We will subdue electoral vote or the highest or lowest of the two you, sir,' and no one knows but this very thing candidates carried in. was in his mind at the time.'

'In the passage you attribute to me language which I never uttered, and a sentiment which I never conceived or harbored. It is true that arranged that Mr. Humphrey Marshall, of Ky., the New York Tribune and other unscrupulous partizan sheets attributed to me several months ago the same sentiment, but it is also true, and the official debates of the Senate attest the fact, diversion which, it is confidently expected, will that I promptly denied it in open Senate in the presence of Mr. Sumner and all others to whom Breckinridge. was alleged to have been directed, and not one of them intimated or pretended that the start the machinery. of all the Senators to whom it was said to have been directed, is now repeated, after the lapse been directed, is now repeated, after the lapse of several months, in the pulpit of the Plymouth Congressional Church of Chicago, and made the foundation of a series of inferences equally under the condition of a series of inferences equally under the condition of a series of inferences equally under the condition of a series of inferences equally under the condition of the con ounded and unjust. DR. A. KING, a practitioner of New York, for the last 28 years, has opened a Dispensary on Market street, between First and Second, nearly opposite the Bowless House, for the treatment of Private Diseases, such a Gonorrhea, Syphilis, and all diseases of the skin and other derangements growing out of neglect or imperied cure. It is long experience and success enable him to act with constant of the constant of th iong experience and success enable him to act with confidence. All those who may confide their cases to him may rest assured of having the disease effectually cursel, and every vestage of the difficulties perferfectly cradicated from their constitutions.

Syntcruzes of old or recent date effectually cursel, as few days by an operation which causes no pain. Where a stricture exists, general derangement of the whole constitution must ensue, a continuance of which will bring on a train of synaptoms to be dreaded, and will undermine the constitution and cause premature old age.

SEMINAL WARMESS.—Particular attention will be given to this disease, and all the consequences.

MEDICAL.

To the Afflicted. Dr. DURENT would inform the citizens of Louisville, and the public in general, that he has returned fo his office, on Jefferson street, between Preston and Jackson streets. He is prepared to cure the Chills and Fever, and all other diseases;
it is a well known fact that no purson ever bad
a chill after taking his medicine. He keeps on hand at all times, his well known and welebrated White Swelling salve, that never fails to cure the white swelling, pains in the head, back, sidos, and broast. Also, his Syrup, a certain cure for consumption; no case ever known not to be cured where the plaster would araw red and used the Syrup according to directions. He also keeps his Cholera Drops, the only sure remedy in the world for that dread discese, and many other medicines too tedious to mention. IF The above Syrap will care the Whooping Cough.

If The above medicines can be had at my office,

N. B.—Those who prefer may consult Dr. LA CROIX upon any of the diseases upon which his book treats, either personally or by mail. His medicines often cure in the short space of six days, and completely and entirely eradicate all traces of those disorders which copaive and cubebs having so long been thought an antidote, to the rann of the health of the patient. His "French Secret" is the great continual remedy for that class of disorders which, unfortunately, prysicians treat with mercury, to the irretrievable cestruction of th parient's constitution, and which all the sarsaparifia in the world ctinot cure. tion, and which all the sarsaparina in the world ethnor cure.

Dr. LA CROIX'S medicines are free from all mineral poisons, and put in a neat and compact form, which can be sent by Express or Mail, and may be taken in a public or private house, or while traveling, without exposure to the most intimate friend or room mate, or hindrance from usiness or study, and no important change in the diet is necessary. Medicines sent to any part of the Union, according to directions, safely packed and carefully secure from all observation.

constitutes man super-eminent among annual congestions of embitter existence by adding a consciousness of folly to the penalty of pain. This medicine is prepared entirely from vegetable substances; the most delicate stomach can bear it conveniently, and it is given with perfect safety, in minute doses to the most tender infants, its propenies being of a strengthening and invigorating nature. It is neatly put up m bottles, with ample directions for use.

The following testimonials from some well known and respectable citizens of Philadelphia, are fully corroborative of the tried efficacy of the Anti Dyspeptic Elixir.

Attetsation.

We, having used William's Anti-Dyspectic Elixir with the most perfect satisfaction and success, take great plea-sure in recommending it to all persons suffering with Dys-pepsia, as we are fully convinced of its most estimable qualities in restoring the digestive powers, removing all pain and uncasiness, and imparting a healthy tone to the Testimony of Mr. Michael Dunn, Superinter PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1853.

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1863.

Doctor James Williams:—For several years past, I have been liable to attacks of Dyspepsia; but never have I been more distressingly afflicted with its symptoms, than within the last few weeks. Indigestion, nervous irritability, despondency, a sense of weight in the stomach, and severe pains in the left side, rendering me, for the time being, truly wretched. Forthantely, I was recommended by a friend to try your Elixir. I did so, and in less than two weeks, indigestion ceased; pain and nervous depression left me, and appetite, with mental and bodity health, were fully restored. To me the cure seemed almost mi raculous, and my object in writing to you is—a hope that other persons suffering the miseries of Dyspepsia will avail themselves of your efficient remedy.

I am, dear sir, yours Iruly, MICHEAL DUNN.

IN calling the attention of dealers in our line in this mar-ket, we would state that during the last six months our attention has been directed to getting up a large number of new Stove and Grate Patterns, which, added to our aiready large stock, gives us one of the most extensive and diversified assortments in the western market. Among the number, we would refer to our "Ashland Kentuckian" Cook Stove, (three sizes out.) These Stoves have great weight of metal, highly finished and elegant in appearance. They combine all the modern inprovements that practical experience has developed.

We would invite dealers to call and examine for themselves, and we think in quality, price, &c., they can be selves, and we think in quality, price, &c., they can be selves, and we think in quality, price, &c., they can be selves, and we think in quality, price, &c., they can be selves, which has been so kinkly bestowed upon us, we trust, by strict and prompt attention to all orders, to secure a continuance of it. And the quality of our manufactured work shall be, as heretofore, equal if not superior to the best, and satisfaction given in all casees.
